- Tasting Notes: 2020 was possibly the most challenging year in the Willamette Valley to make wine. High temperatures and drought lead to wildfires just at harvest was about to start. Not wanting to leave our growers with fruit they couldn't sell, we learned everything we could to minimize the fires impact and produce a delicious wine with a sense of place and time. Every year is a new challenge and 2020 is one we won't soon forget.
